
[a Writers Room workshop]

portraits through time

mapping memory through drawing and writing

SATURDAY, MARCH 5

10:00AM – 1:00PM Dornsife Center for Neighborhood Partnerships
3509 Spring Garden
Ryan Hall |S109

2:30PM – 4:00PM National Liberty Museum

Join us at Writers Room for a special day-long drawing and writing workshop. Jacklynn Niemiec (Architecture) and Valerie Fox (English) will lead this workshop in partnership with Writers Room, the Dornsife Center for Neighborhood Partnerships, and the National Liberty Museum.

Through active drawing and creative writing, the workshop seeks to map the people and places that have played a transformational role on our lives. We will reflect on the connections of people and places in our own lives and find ways of visualizing and honoring those connections.

Participants, including students and community members, will first meet at 10AM at Dornsife for a morning of (coffee-fueled) creativity. We'll then have lunch together and proceed to the National Liberty Museum (transportation provided) where select pieces from the workshop will be displayed in an exhibit at the museum to celebrate National Women's History Month.

SEATS FOR THE WORKSHOP ARE LIMITED, PLEASE RSVP
BY FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26 | RW346@DREXEL.EDU

Writers Room at Dornsife is a place for writing, reading, thinking, and being. Here, members of the Mantua, Powelton Village, and Drexel communities will create a shared story.
